

3-Day Motivational Interviewing Intensive

Steven Malcolm Berg-Smith, MS, MINT Member (1994)
San Francisco, CA
May 20-22, 2020

Description: Motivational Interviewing (MI), first described by William Miller (1983), and later elaborated in the classic book—Motivational Interviewing: Preparing People for Change (1991, 2002, 2014)—offers a practical, evidence-based approach for supporting clients in making and sustaining healthy behavior changes. Originally developed in the drug and alcohol field, over 300 clinical trials demonstrate the efficacy of MI across a range of populations, target behaviors, and medical conditions. In particular, MI has been shown to be especially effective in brief clinical encounters and for individuals not ready or unsure about change. This intensive 3-day workshop will provide participants an in-depth overview of the theory, principles, and skills of MI. Participants will be guided through a sequence of learning activities to explore and shape counseling practice behavior, and to initiate a process for developing proficiency in MI. Learning activities will include: demonstrations, videotape examples, “real-plays,” fictional case studies, small group exercises, and significant participant practice with feedback.

Learning Objectives: Participants will be able to:

1. List the key ingredients of the guiding philosophy of Motivational Interviewing (MI)
2. Identify the foundational communication skills of MI from demonstrations and video examples
3. Name core MI strategies for eliciting and exploring clients’ own reasons for change in role-play practice exercises
4. Describe the 4 processes of MI for navigating clinical conversations in the direction of client change goals
5. Identify key issues for incorporating the primary skills and strategies of MI into counseling practice

Target Audience: This workshop is appropriate for helping professionals who are in the role of counseling clients/patients to make and sustain healthy behavior changes: physicians, nurses, health educators, care managers, dieticians, social workers, counselors, psychologists, life coaches, clergy, probation/corrections officers, personal trainers, etc.
